DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings were received on April 9, 2007. These drawings are acceptable.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, 4, 5, 7-10, and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Gough (3,612,136).

Contrary to applicant's arguments, the clear reference disclosure of the cord angle difference between the two narrow plies inherently discloses the two possible species wherein the inner ply has the larger angle and wherein the outer ply has the larger angle: small number of species would have been at once envisaged by one of ordinary skill in the art from the disclosed genus (see MPEP 2131.02).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 2, 3, 13-15 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gough (3,612,136).

Art Unit: 1733

See paragraph 3 above: it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide such conventional features in the above tire. It is noted that applicant has not challenged the examiner's position that these features are conventional.

6. Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gough (3,612,136) in view of Kojima et al. (5,032,198), Nakayasu et al. (5,558,144), and Osborne et al. (6,425,426 B1).

See paragraph 3 above: the claimed auxiliary belt is a conventional feature in such tires, as evidenced by Kojima et al. (col. 6 line 20 - col. 9 line 38), Nakayasu et al. (col. 2 line 40 - col. 5 line 3), and Osborne et al. (col. 4 line 17 - col.), therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide such a conventional auxiliary belt in the above tire. Applicant has challenged the examiner's position that the claimed at least one auxiliary belt is a conventional feature in tires such as the above tire, therefore Kojima et al., Nakayasu et al., and Osborne et al. have been added as evidence that this feature is indeed conventional.

7. Claims 17 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gough (3,612,136) in view of Ubukata et al. (6,260,596 B1).

See paragraph 3 above: it is well known to align cord direction of a ply all in the same direction or symmetrically with respect to a vehicle centerline in order to adjust cornering and steering properties, as evidenced by Ubukata et al. (embodiments of Figures 2-5) for example; it would therefore have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide such well known cord alignment when mounting a set of the tires on a vehicle in order to adjust cornering and steering properties.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claim 11 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

9. Claim 20 is allowed.

Conclusion

10. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
